louvres maximises the effect of the cooling Coral Sea breezes.

- 5.5m vaulted ceiling at the high point and a 40m² mezzanine with 360 degree views, accessed via a spiral staircase.
- Wake up to magnificent sunrises over Hinchinbrook Island from the master bedroom, what a great way to start the day. A very generous size bedroom with walk through wardrobe to the ensuite featuring "his and hers" vanities, separate toilet, large shower recess and glass sliding door access to your own very private outdoor tropical garden shower.
- Visitors are lavishly accommodated in a very private area comprising two generous bedrooms, large bathroom with separate bath, shower and toilet. French doors open out to a centre courtyard garden.
- A fourth bedroom/office also enjoys the privacy of its own ensuite and verandah.
- The living area is enormous... Comprising a huge kitchen with island bench, work areas and a lengthy eight panels of glass bi-fold doors to the terrace and outdoor living area. All benchtops are sandy granite over 2-Pac cabinets. The large walk-in pantry, 5-burner gas cooktop, electric oven and dishwasher complement this sensational kitchen and dining area. The more formal dining area is also located in this precinct as is the open area media room.
- The terrace is approximately 90m² undercover with tiled floors, adjoining the magnificent in-ground swimming pool with its dark grey fine pebble finish. This entertainment area is further enhanced by extensive timber decking and the manicured garden includes mature palm trees. The front fence adjoins the sandy beach water line and the sensational views to Hinchinbrook Island, Dunk Island and the Family Group of islands are breathtaking. The previous owners have left their fishing rod holders on the fence intact and often bragged about the Barramundi, Mangrove Jack and mud crabs caught in their own back yard.

- The property is of robust rendered masonry block construction, with colorbond roof and light beige floor tiles throughout.

Some 512m² under roof with fantastic indoor/outdoor living, this magnificent absolute beachfront home designed specifically for this great location will not disappoint!
